Five Killings Admitted by a Michigan Boy

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP)—Five killings were admitted today, police said, by a youth arrested Thursday night on a tip in the slaying of a school teacher.

It was a tip in the hitchhiker slaying of teacher Gary Albert Smock of Plymouth, Mich., that led authorities to slightly built Larry Ranes, 19, of Kalamazoo.

State Police Sgt. Karl Lutz said Ranes readily admitted killing Smock, then volunteered he'd also slain Charles Edward Snyder, 33, in holding up an Elkhardt, Ind., gasoline station last Saturday while Smock's body still was stuffed in the trunk of the car he had taken from him.

Then came, the sergeant said, admissions in three other slayings.

Lutz quoted Ranes as saying he shot and killed Vernon L. Benne, 23, in the $200 holdup of a gasoline station at Battle Creek, Mich., last April 6.

Lutz said the youth also admitted killings in Las Vegas, Nev., and in Kentucky.

Lutz said no details were obtained in the latter killings.

Sgt. Frank Thompson said a call came from Arthur Boothie and quoted Ranes as saying he had killed Smock, intended to visit a priest, and then kill himself.

Ranes was walking down the driveway of the Boothie home when police arrived.

Arrested on a murder charge at 3 a.m., Ranes was held without bail.

Thinks Greatest Tribute a Child Can Pay to Parents for Life Is to Outlive Them

By HAL BOYLE
KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The greatest tribute a child can pay to its parents for the gift of life is to outlive them.

I have existed beyond my father a quarter of a century, but I doubt I can outlive my mother.

She gets stronger with the years.

Going on 77, she is fair-complexioned as a milkmaid, still delicate of ankle, but so rotund and robust that it is all her loving children can do to put their arms around her.

She came here from Ireland when the world was young and fair, was ambushed by love, bore five kids without loss—all over 40 and complaining—and has survived the inroads of an Irish temper, a touch of diabetes, and four decades of high blood pressure in good health.

Her current foe is rheumatism—and she has a low opinion of it.

"Some days I can hardly move," she remarks, "but where do I want to go anyway except to stay here?"

One of the things I admire most about my mother, who only went to the third grade in Ireland but educated herself by enjoying people and reading the Kansas City Star, is her humaneness. She is the finest philosopher and the most sure-footed family politician I ever knew.

She doesn't just sit on the fence. She patrols both sides of a situation. Any situation.

When she was younger if something displeased her, she fixed her eye on the ceiling and

Nixon Thinks Scranton Is Good Choice

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—More than twice the number of senators necessary to force a vote on the question have signed a petition to close the Senate's marathon civil rights debate, now in its 71st day.

The petition will be filed Saturday and, under the rules, will come up for a vote Tuesday.

At the start of today's session, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana appealed to senators to sign the debate-limiting petition in order that "we may make as good a showing as possible."

As of late Thursday the petition carried the signatures of 37 senators, compared to the 16 required by the rules to get the petition before the Senate.

The petition has not been made public, but a reporter got a look at it.

The 37 signatures are far short of the two-thirds majority required to put the Senate's debate-limiting closure rule in effect, but many senators who have not signed the petition have said they will vote for closure.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Democratic leader and floor manager of the bill, said he is reasonably optimistic that the Senate will vote to shut off the debate.

He said he expects all senators except Clair Engle, D-Calif., who has had two brain operations, to be on hand for the test.

Republican senators who have signed the petition are Dirksen, Kuchel, Case, Fong, Keating, Beall, Allott, Saltonstall, Cooper, Scott and Javits.

The Democratic signers: Mansfield, Humphrey, Brewster, Randolph, Muskie, Clark, McNamara, Ribicoff, Inouye, Douglas, Kennedy, Young, Dodd, Hart, Metcalf, Hartke, Moss, Morse, Jackson, McIntyre, Pastore, Pell, Nelson, Neuberger, Williams and Bayh.

Filing the petition Saturday will automatically bring a vote on closure one hour after the Senate meets on Tuesday.

Humphrey obtained an agreement Thursday night for the Senate to meet at noon Tuesday, but Mansfield said today he would ask unanimous consent later for the Senate to meet at 10 a.m. on Tuesday, moving up the hour of the showdown vote by two hours.

Mansfield said this was necessary because of prior commitments of which Humphrey was not aware when the agreement on Tuesday's meeting hour was

So Fascinating There Was No Time to Be Scared, Says General Recalling D Day

Showers Fall Over Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Showers fell in North Arkansas today and rain was forecast for that area through Saturday.

The showers were touched off by a low pressure area which formed over the central plains Thursday and moved slowly across South Missouri.

Eureka Springs reported 1.81 inches of rain in the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today. The rain belt extended southward to Little Rock which reported .03 inch.

Temperatures remained mild with today's highs forecast in the 80 to 86 range. Thursday's highs were in the 80s, except for 70-degree readings in shower areas. Overnight temperatures were slightly higher and warmer nights are in the immediate outlook.

Day to day temperature changes are expected to be minor during the next few days.

Red Force Wiped Out in Viet Nam

By HORST FAAS
TAY NINH, South Viet Nam (AP)—Jungle-trained U.S. and Vietnamese special forces wiped out a vital Communist supply area along the Cambodian border in a hazardous three-day "scorched earth" operation that ended Thursday night.

The operation west of Tay Ninh may set a new pattern in the war against the elusive Viet Cong.

The Viet Cong toll was not high—about 25 killed out of 1,500 men estimated in the area. But everything the Viet Cong depend upon for their sustenance was razed or carried away.

About 1,000 tons of rice was destroyed. Thousands of ducks and chickens were slaughtered or carried off. Dozens of pigs, water buffalo and cows were destroyed.

A 20-mile stretch along the Vaico Oriental River was left scorched and barren. Winding southeastward out of Cambodia, the river has been a strategic waterway for Red guerrillas and supplies.

The operation was one of the biggest helicopter-supported operations of the war. Twenty-five armed and ten troop-carrying U.S. helicopters took part.

The number of ground forces was relatively small—some 300 Vietnamese special forces, 200 Rangers and 20 American advisers. But the advisers said it was one of the best-coordinated American-Vietnamese operations of the war.

American advisers on the ground maintained direct contact with U.S. helicopters overhead, dispensing with much of the red tape involved in joint American-Vietnamese operations in the past.

Ruling Asked on an Election

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A Republican candidate for Perry County representative has asked Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett if the Republican County Committee must hold elections in all 17 precincts.

Mrs. B. D. Downey of Bigelow, who opposes B.H. Gipson, also of Bigelow, complained that she had to pay a $350 filing fee to the county committee.

This was in addition to the regular $25 fee, she said.

Mrs. Downey said she learned later that the GOP county committee planned to hold a primary in only eight precincts.

Bennet said he would rule on her query in a few days.

Rep. Paul Van Dalsen is Democratic candidate for re-election.

EDITOR'S NOTE—It was all so fascinating there was no time to be scared." So it was on D-Day—June 6, 1944—recalls Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, then the brand new commander of the 101st Airborne Division, now the nation's top military man as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP)—"Mon general, use this bullet on the Boche."

Thus did an old French farmer welcome Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor to Normandy 20 years ago.

A few hours earlier, in the predawn darkness, Taylor had leaped from a low-flying transport plane to lead the first wave of U.S. paratroopers in the historic assault.

Uncertain where he was, Taylor had walked up to a French farmhouse, knocked on the door and asked for help in getting his bearings.

The old farmer, overjoyed that the Americans had come, disappeared for a moment and then returned with his bullet—a token of his hope for victory over the Germans.

Today, Taylor is the top military man in the United States, and he still recalls D-Day as "the most dramatic day I ever spent in my life."

This says much—for few men living have witnessed as many dramatic and historic days.

In his time, Taylor has slipped alone into Nazi-held Rome to negotiate with the Italians, confronted the Russians as U.S. commander in Berlin, led in some of the most desperate fighting in Korea, sat at President John F. Kennedy's right hand during the Cuban missile crisis.

Recently, the slender, gray-haired soldier of 62 sat in his Pentagon office and chatted with a reporter about D-Day, the 6th of June, 1944.

Now Taylor wears four stars as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. He also wears 40 decorations, many for valor.

At the time of Normandy, he had only recently pinned on his second star and taken command of the 101st Airborne Division in England.

The assault on Nazi Germany's "Fortress Europe" was the 101st's baptism in battle. It also was Taylor's first combat jump.

Here, after refreshing his recollection, is the way Taylor described that day:

"This was the first action of the 101st—it had to go right. I wanted to be sure that the spirit and confidence of the men were high. I visited all units in their 17 departure areas and talked to the men in groups from 1,000 down to 24."

"We had an early heavy dinner about 6 o'clock. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower accompanied us to the departure airfield. About 11 o'clock at night—it was still daylight there—Gen. Eisenhower went from group to group talking to the men as they got into their parachutes."

"As we got into the air, darkness had just begun to fall. We circled around over southern England and waited for the transport fleets to fall into formation. It was a beautiful sight as we fell into line, straightened out and headed for France."

"As we got closer we saw our greatest enemy—fog. This weather was a surprise. We thought we had a clear night and yet there was a great bank of fog. The planes flew in a formation of V's—almost touching wings—in very tight formation as we crossed the Channel."

"The fog was not continuous—here it was cloudy and there it opened up with the bright quarter moon shining through. We could see the ground from time to time."

"While we were still in the fog, on came the red light, which means—Stand up and check equipment. We lined up tight against the door. The fog lifted just as we got the red light showing four minutes to go—and then cleared completely."

"The plane slowed down to 100 miles an hour—the green light meaning 'jump' came on. The sky was red with rockets—flak of all descriptions—a few burning planes on the ground."

"It was all so fascinating there was no time to be scared. It was the greatest show ever put on for a soldier's eye. There was plenty going on—everybody shooting at something."

"It was a great thrill to get

'August' Vote Drive Gets Hot Suddenly

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The "August campaign" between Gov. Orval E. Faubus and his Republican foe Winthrop Rockefeller, got hot suddenly here Thursday.

Faubus meets at least three foes in the July 28 Democratic primary ballot, is expected to win, and face Rockefeller in the general election.

But campaign talk flew between them here like the primaries had been settled already. Some seem to have forgotten what people thought was the real reason for his (Rockefeller's) coming here in the beginning—that Arkansas had a 90-day divorce law, Faubus told Boys Staters.

Rockefeller fired back that Faubus and GOP Chairman William L. Spicer of Fort Smith were deliberately trying to confuse Arkansas Republican voters.

A youth asked Faubus: "You've just cited figures that the state's income is increasing and you own a newspaper and how do you figure you are a poor boy?"

Faubus has said repeatedly that his campaign against Rockefeller, a multimillionaire, will determine "whether a poor boy can still beat a rich boy."

Faubus' reply to the question was: "That newspaper is not paid out. My salary has not been increased. Compared to my Republican opponent, I think I'm classified as a poor boy."

This prompted Rockefeller to reply that there must be some good millionaires and some bad millionaires.

"The governor has never criticized Witt Stephens (head of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co.), Witt's brother, or any of their wealthy associates who have long been his confidants, close advisers and strongest supporters," Rockefeller said.

Faubus "has not cautioned us to be suspicious of President Johnson because of the fact that he is a millionaire," Rockefeller said.

"I have never heard him (Faubus) speak critically of those with accumulated wealth who are investing in Arkansas and aiding in our efforts to develop," Rockefeller said.

University Grant Is $15,000

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The University of Arkansas will receive about $15,000 a year for aid of needy students under the will of Mrs. Jewel Minnis of Roe (Monroe County), who died May 5 at 62.

Mrs. Minnis left the university the income from her 800-acre rice farm. The farm will be administered by the Jewel Minnis Trust with profits from the farm operation going to the university.

Mrs. Minnis expressed a wish that the money be used to aid freshman students but discretion over how it shall be spent was left with the university's Endowment and Trust Fund.

The Jewel Minnis Trust will be managed by James B. Sharp and Lambert C. Dial of Brinkley and Lehman Fowler of Hunter.

Mrs. Minnis taught school at Brinkley for 20 years. After her retirement she traveled extensively.

MIAMI, Fla., (AP)—An anti-Castro group says government investigators coerced a member of their organization to deny he made a flight from Florida to Cuba.

Stung by a Pentagon statement that branded reports of the flight a "complete and utter hoax," the International Anti-Communist Brigade insisted the flight was made.

A statement said the plane took off from Florida on a flight plan to the Bahamas, landed at a base "outside U.S. territory" and then flew to Cuba.

The group said the plane returned to Florida, again on a flight plan, after dropping a field hospital to guerrillas and leaflets on Santiago de Cuba.

The statement said that Frank Florini, a member of the group, denied only that he personally made the flight.

"The reason for that denial is that he and six other Americans are under an executive order to cease and desist any action against the Cuban Communist government or be faced with a two-year prison sentence and a $25,000 fine for each offense. In view of this threat, which was made by government investigators, Florini signed a statement."

The executive order was given, Florini said, because he and the other Americans made several bombing raids on Cuba in 1963.

Petition Has Votes to Clip Rights Debate

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey said today he is reasonably optimistic the Senate will vote to shut off the marathon civil rights debate. He expects 99 senators to be on hand for the crucial test next Tuesday.

Humphrey, assistant Democratic leader and the bill's floor manager, told newsmen the only absentee he knew of would be Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., who has had two brain operations.

Earlier there had been speculation administration forces might be able to invoke the debate-limiting closure procedure by persuading some foes of the bill to stay away.

But the Minnesota senator discounted this. He said the vote was so important and the time was so advanced that no senator really would have an excuse for being absent.

"We are expecting to have to produce 66 votes to obtain closure," he said.

"This would be exactly the required two-thirds if 99 votes are cast."

Humphrey said his optimism for success in the vote Tuesday had risen somewhat because "we had a good day yesterday." He referred to vote commitments but would not elaborate.

His official position the senator explained, still is that "we will get more than 40 Democrats." Other party sources said prospects now were good for 43 or 44.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen has said he expects 25 or more Republicans will vote in favor of closure.

Pressed in the Senate Thursday by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., as to whether the votes for closure were nailed down, Humph

So Fascinating

out of the airplane—we jumped from a height of 500 feet, leaving little time to adjust oneself before hitting the ground. I hit the ground with a crash and it took an appreciable length of time to recover.

"The next problem was to get out of the chute and it was a battle. I finally had to use my trench knife to cut myself out. After I got loose and look-around, there was not a American to be found. The next question was—Where was my division? I sneaked around hedge-row corners looking to find somebody—there was indiscriminate shooting going on everywhere.

"I thought I would stumble on a German position any minute. I listened hard for the sound of a cricket—in the division we all carried a little cricket like a child's toy that we used for identification, and it turned out to be very useful that morning. After about 20 minutes I found new trenches and felt sure I would run into a German unit. I heard somebody move behind one of the hedgerows and then that somebody crickets.

"It was the sound I had been listening for—and it was a most beautiful one to hear, to be followed by the appearance of an American soldier. I thought he was the best sight I have ever seen. There he was looking just as tough as could be—and just as tough as I hoped he was.

"Thereafter, assembling went on slowly. It was nearly daylight before we had assembled some 80 to 90 men out of the 800 troops that were supposed to be in the area.

"We had the division artillery commander, Gen. Anthony McAuliffe, the division chief of staff, the division engineer—all the brass along with radio operators, cooks, KP's—but only about 20 riflemen."

As Taylor is fond of saying when he looks back on those hectic early hours of the great invasion: "Never were so few commanded by so many."

It turned out that the wide dispersal of the division proved an advantage in the confused fighting.

"It set off rumors that we were everywhere," Taylor said. The division's mission was to capture four causeways leading from the beaches, so the troops landing by sea could move inland.

After he made sure of his location, Taylor headed his small force for the causeways some three miles away. All he had for personal arms were a pistol and grenades.

At the end of that long day, Taylor said, "We had the causeways and the mission was accomplished."

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

Mr. and Mrs. Truman Larry Coffman

Miss Sondra Sharron Russell and Truman Larry Coffman were united in marriage on Thursday, May 28 at the Walnut Street Church of Christ. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth G. Russell of Hope and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Coffman of Caddo Gap.

The minister of the church, M.H. Peebles, officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Miss Janice Cooper of Willisville sang "Always" and "Whither Thou Goest," and Misses Mary Beth Levins and Sherry Crank lighted the candles. Baskets of yellow gladioli and greenery further enhanced the setting.

Entering upon the arm of her father, the bride was gown in traditional floor-length white satin. The dress had a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves, which fitted tight at the wrists with satin-covered buttons and ended in petal points over the hands. Her veil of silk illusion was held in place by a pearl tiara. Her bridal bouquet was centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Donald Gene Browning of San Antonio, sister of the bride, was her matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Janice Cooper of Willisville, Miss Diane Davis of Ashdown, Miss Nancy Reese and Miss Brenda Deloney, both of Hope. Their yellow cotton stain frocks were made identically with round necklines and bell-shaped skirts. Matching pillbox hats and white gloves completed their attire, and they carried longstem yellow roses.

Little Miss Joan Browning, daughter of the bride, carried the ring.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to North Arkansas and Tennessee, the bride wore a white silk two-piece dress, white accessories, and the orchid from her bridal bouquet. This summer Mr. and Mrs. Coffman will be at home in West Virginia, but in the fall both will resume their education at Henderson State Teachers College.

"DEAR ABBY"

END THE "DREAM!"

By Abigail Van Buren

"Dear Abby: Please try to help me. I am worried sick about my husband. We've been married 11 years and have three children. He was never graduated from high school but he is smart. He's nice looking, too. Abby, we don't have a cent in the bank. We just barely keep up with the bills. He says he has life insurance and some other policies, but I've never seen them. He claims they are locked up in his boss' safe. I would like to have a look at them. Also, he has never filed any income tax, State or Federal. That is what worries me the most. I love him very much, and know that he can't go on forever without getting caught. Then what? The children and I need him. Can you tell me what to do?"

WORRIED SICK
Dear Worried: Collar your dreamer and tell him that if he turns himself in, he will be given the opportunity to pay what he owes on time, plus penalties, and the authorities will be much more lenient with him than if they are forced to charge him with a crime. And let him know that if he doesn't act within one

Nixon Thinks

made Thursday night. Humphrey's statement that he expects all senators except Engle to be present for the vote means that 66 votes will be required to invoke cloture.

Earlier in the day, Scranton told a news conference in Harrisburg, Pa., he would run with Goldwater only if there were a genuine draft by convention delegates.

He had been asked to comment on GOP National Chairman William E. Miller's recent statement that Scranton would make a good running mate for Goldwater.

Nixon gave his views at a news conference before speaking at a testimonial for Rep. Steven B. Derouman, R-N.Y., in this city week, you will act for him.

Dear Abby: I am 15 years old and have a big problem—a boy. Can you tell me how to get his attention without being loud? He likes girls for friends but not for girlfriends. I have liked him for a long time but he never paid any attention to me so I tried to quit liking him, but I can't. I think if I can get his attention I might have a chance. Do you have any clever ideas?

LIKES HIM
Dear Likes: When a boy is ready to like a girl for a girl friend, you won't have to try to get his attention. If he isn't ready and you succeed in getting his attention, it won't do you any good. Be patient. Boys can always tell when they are being chased, and they still prefer to do the chasing.

Dear Abby: I married a man who was married before. His first wife died. My husband has a picture of his late wife on his bureau. When I get up in the morning, this picture is the first thing I see and it depresses me for the rest of the day. I have two children by this marriage and they wonder why they don't see my picture on their Daddy's bureau. Should I suggest to my husband that he move the picture down to his office? If not, what should I do? Please put this in your column. I know other people with the same problem.

DEPRESSED
Dear Depressed: The chances are, your husband is not even aware that his late wife's picture is on his bureau. Remove it. If he misses it and inquires, tell him candidly that it "depressed" you, and suggest that he take it to his office.

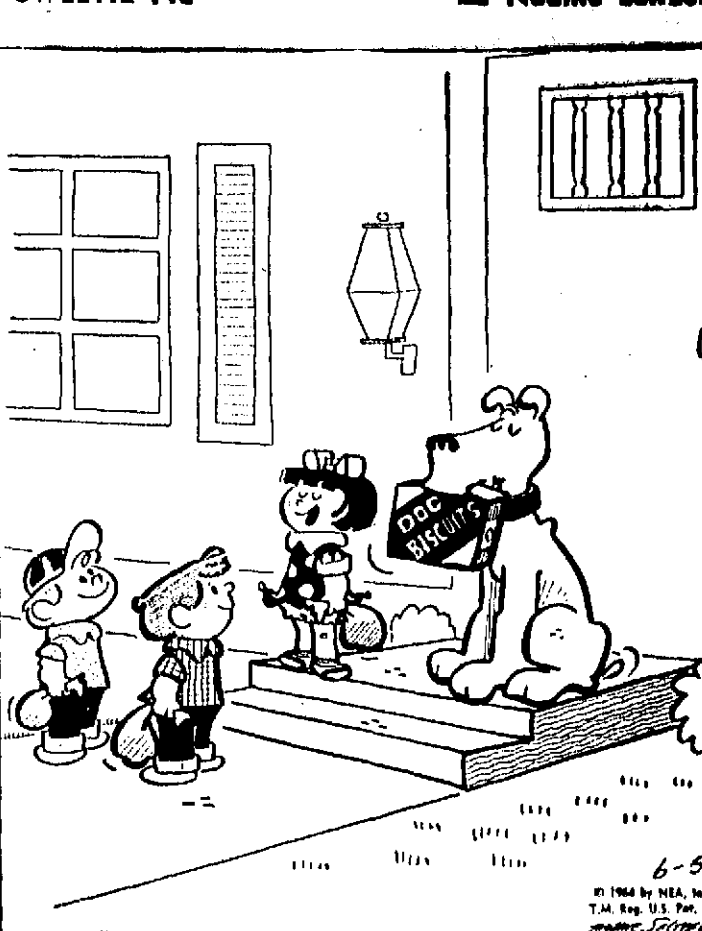

Confidential to Gordo: If a man can't break 90, he has no business on a golf course. If he breaks 80, he probably has no business.

SWEETIE PIE

By Nadine Schaefer

"Everybody got his lunch? Let's go!"

on Long Island.

He said: "The chances of any Republican beating Johnson today are considered remote by the pollsters, by the television commentators and by all the political experts. All that I can say is this: That the polls have been wrong in New Hampshire, Oregon and California (primaries)."

He called 1964 a year of upsets and added that a "slam-bang" campaign by the GOP could defeat Johnson.

The next two weeks, he said, are critical in the campaign for the Republican nomination and a bandwagon psychology could develop for Goldwater.

"You'll know in two weeks if a Goldwater blitz will succeed," he said.

He said he was not going to endorse any candidate and that if any "stop-Goldwater" movement developed, "I certainly would not become a party to it, and I would instruct my aides not to join it."

As for his own future, Nixon said: "I don't anticipate a draft will take place for me." Asked if he thought a Nixon-Goldwater ticket would be a good one, he said: "I think the best ticket would be a Goldwater-Scranton ticket. It gets the combination of the Goldwater experience on the national scene and the combination of a big Eastern state."

"Perhaps someday he'll explain the subtle difference," he said.

Faubus said Rockefeller "will be a pretty good opponent and they'll have bell ringers and paid workers in here and will be flooding everybody with literature and will try to stampede the state and they have enough money to buy everything they want."

But the governor said he thought he would win the November race "because I have a Democratic administration" and because "Arkansas is a Democratic state and the party has acted more fairly to all segments and the ordinary working people."

He said he thought a two-party system "could have an unwholesome effect, putting the balance of power with the NAACP and the radicals."

Valez was admitted to a hospital, which reported he was in satisfactory condition.

The Story: Milo March has been given evasive answers by Johnny Clark in Washington.

March is questioning Clark concerning Thomas Rako, who has been missing for seven years.

Unless Rako is found, a million dollars in insurance will have to be paid to Rako's beneficiaries.

I stood up and looked down at him. "Thanks for the talk."

"Always glad to talk to cops," he said. He gave me that arrogant smile again. "It's the only way I get laughs. Did you get what you came after?"

"I may have," I walked to the door and turned to look at him. I noticed that Jerry Dell was already standing up ready to follow me. I'll let you in on something, Clark. You may or may not have had anything to do with the disappearance of Thomas Rako. I don't even care. But somebody did have something to gain by it. I'm just getting the information around that whoever it was is in for trouble in the near future."

"What does that mean? What kind of trouble?"

"My kind," I said. For the first time I smiled a thin, "I don't like you Clark. I don't like anything about you but I understand how you got where you are. You're a pusher. So am I. When I'm after some thing I push anybody who's even near the scene. And I do all my own pushing—without the help of secretaries. If you're as clean as you say you are, then you have nothing to worry about. If you're not, you'd better tell your boss to put their galoshes on. The last 30 days are going to be the toughest."

His anger was back. His face worked, trying to produce the usual laugh, but it didn't quite come off. "Get out," he said.

I turned and marched down the corridor. I knew what Jerry Dell was following me, but I didn't bother to look back. I marched past the darkhaired secretary and into the elevator, which was still waiting. The gunman stepped in after me and I punched the button. We rode down in complete silence.

When the door opened, I walked through the lobby, past the receptionist, to the front. I was just about to step outside when Dell spoke for the first time.

"March," he said. His voice was soft, almost effeminate. I turned to look at him. "I ed that way so if anybody even finds his grave somewhere they can still collect. Now you don't have much time to find Tom. You'd better get started."

"I stood up and looked down at him. "Thanks for the talk."

didn't know you talked," I said. "I thought you only took dictation."

He was staring at me and there was a strange expression—excitement—in his eyes. "The chief is a nice, polite guy and he puts up with all your crumbs. But I got a message for you Lay off. If you don't, I'm going to see you, baby."

"Don't bother, baby," I said. "Stay home and nurse your wrist—before it becomes too limp to use a gun."

Koufax Hurls No Hitter to Tie the Record

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sandy Koufax has finished practicing. He finished about halfway through the third no-hitter of his major league career, allowing only one walk in a 3-0 victory over Philadelphia Thursday night and joining Bob Feller as the only triple no-hit hurlers in modern baseball history.

Minutes later, in the Los Angeles Dodgers' dressing room, the unshaven Koufax made a startling revelation—in the first few innings he was just trying to adjust his motion.

"I have been studying pictures in magazines of my form," Koufax explained, "and suddenly realized that I had been stepping too far to the left with the right foot across my body."

"So in the first few innings concentrated on making an adjustment, stepping more to the right. It felt fine. I had the old pitching rhythm back."

No one knew it was missing. Koufax had not been the sensational pitcher he was last year when he won Most-Valuable-Player honors and the Cy Young Award as the best pitcher in the majors. But everyone presumed he was still shaking off an early season injury.

Against the Phillies, it was difficult to tell where Koufax corrected his mistake. Only four balls were hit to the outfield and the closest thing to a hit was Richie Allen's slow grounder in the seventh inning, scooped up by third baseman Jim Gilliam, who quickly fired to first for the out.

Allen also was the lone Phillies' baserunner but was thrown out attempting to steal after walking on a 3-2 pitch in the fourth inning.

Feller, the only other pitcher to hurl three no-hitters, in post-1900 action, was in Cleveland Thursday night as the Indians played the Chicago White Sox. He wasn't at all surprised that Koufax had matched his three no-hitters.

"Why, the way this guy's going," said Feller, "he may get three more of them before he's through."

Feller didn't see his favorites win, the Indians losing to the White Sox 3-1. In the only other American League game played, the New York Yankees defeated Minnesota 9-7.

In other National League action, Pittsburgh whipped San Francisco 4-2, the Chicago Cubs edged St. Louis 2-1, Cincinnati downed Milwaukee 6-3 and Houston beat the New York Mets 7-3.

Koufax, bringing his record to 6-4 with the 99th victory of his career, struck out 12 Phillies, and thus tied another record. It was the 54th time in his career he had struck out 10 or more batters, equalling the mark previously shared by Feller and Rube Waddell.

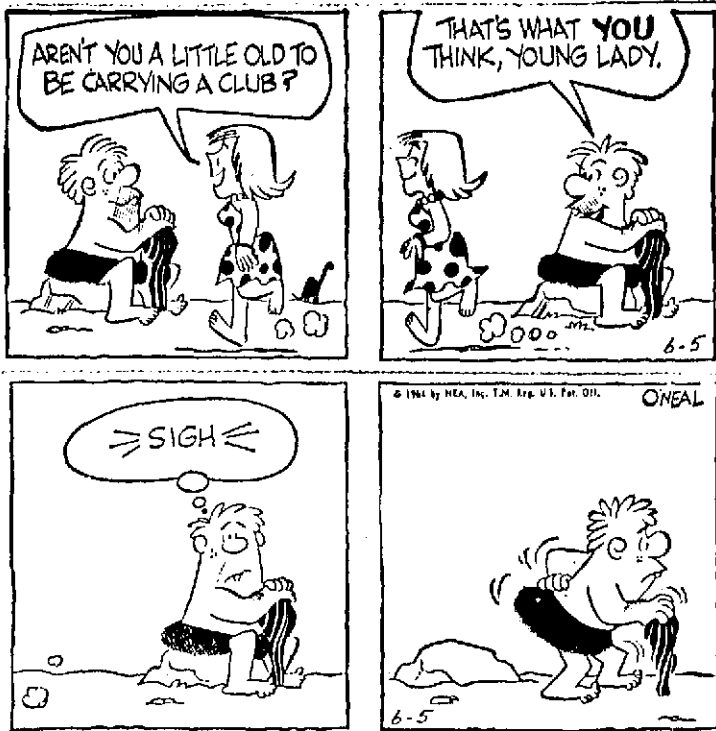

Koufax got the only runs he needed when Frank Howard hit his 14th homer in the seventh inning off Chris Short following singles by Gilliam and Tommy Davis.

Rookie Steve Blass checked the Giants on five hits while the Pirates struck for four runs in the fourth and put it away. Willie Stargell singled home the first run in the uprising, Bill Mazeroski singled home two more and Bob Bolin forced in the final run with a bases-loaded walk.

The Cubs and Cardinals played the season's fastest game in the NL. Ron Santo's two-run homer in the fourth providing Chicago's runs while Charley James homered for St. Louis. It was Santo's third homer in three games and gave Dick Ellsworth, 7-4, the edge against Bob Gibson, 5-2, in a battle of six-hitters.

Frank Robinson's second home run of the game, a three-run shot in the ninth, gave the Reds

Giants, Red Sox Post Victories

By Ralph Rauton

Last night marked the opening of the season for the Doctor's League with the Giants and Red Sox turning in victories. The Giants clubbed the Braves 22-3 while the Red Sox overpowered the Yanks 9-0.

Tommy Frazier hurled a no-hitter for the Giants and struck out eight. Almost everyone chipped in for the Red Sox but Bill Rowland stole the show by socking two doubles besides hurling a no-hitter. He fanned 14.

Next Thursday the Yanks play the Braves and the Giants take on the Red Sox. The first game starts at 6 p. m.

PITCHING — Sandy Koufax, Dodgers, hurled the third no-hitter of his major league career, allowing only one walk in a 3-0 victory over Philadelphia.

Koufax joined Bob Feller as the only triple no-hit hurlers in the history of the game.

The Braves pulled off a triple play in the second inning when Leo Cardenas lined to Mike de la Hoz with two men on. The second baseman flipped to shortstop Denis Menke for the second out and the relay to first nailed No. 3.

Dick Farrell brought his record to 8-1 against the Mets with 2-3 innings of no-hit relief work by Don Larsen. The Colts, meanwhile, collected 15 hits—four each by Bob Lillis and Ed-Ed Kasko—and were aided by four New York errors.

The game was tied 1-1 in the sixth until Al Weis singled and Floyd Robinson slammed his seventh homer. The Indians scored in the first on Dick Howser's double, an infield out and Leon Wagner's sacrifice fly.

Richardson Is Hero of Yankee Win

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Bobby Richardson is hitting more and striking out less.

Actually, if he would strike out any less, he wouldn't.

Richardson, who has fanned only twice in 184 times at bat this season struck five hits for the second time this season as the New York Yankees outlasted Minnesota 9-7 Thursday.

The perfect performance boosted the second baseman's batting average to .310. Only three games ago Richardson was hitting .282.

Only three other players in the majors have belted five hits in a game this season. Richardson was the first to do it, banging out five singles in the first game of a doubleheader against Cleveland May 10.

His hits Thursday consisted of four singles and a double. He also scored twice and drove in a run.

"It can't be explained," Richardson said of his feat. "Frequently you hit three or four good balls during a game, but they will be right at somebody. For a day like this, they have to all go to the right spot; mine did."

Richardson's strikeout rate, or near lack of it, is even more phenomenal than his five-hit production. He always has been among the league leaders in fewest strikeouts, but there may not even be a contest this season.

For the past three years, Richardson has fanned an average of 23 times in 661 plate appearances, or once every 29 times at bat. If he maintains his present rate for the same number of at bats, he would fan only seven times.

Only one other game was played in the American League Thursday. Chicago defeated Cleveland in that one 5-1. Rain washed out the Baltimore-Kansas City game.

In the National League Andy Koufax pitched a record-tying third no-hitter in the Los Angeles Dodgers' 3-0 victory over Philadelphia. In other games Pittsburgh stopped San Francisco 4-2, Cincinnati beat Milwaukee 6-3, Chicago nipped St. Louis 1-0 and Houston whipped New York 7-3.

Even with Richardson's hitting, the Yankees needed three-run homers by Joe Pepitone and Roger Maris for their victory. Pepitone connected in the fourth-run first while Maris' blow gave New York a 9-5 lead in the fourth.

Reliever Pete Mikkelsen won his fourth game against one defeat, pitching his way out of jams in the last three innings.

BATTING —Frank Howard, Dodgers, provided the runs Koufax needed with his 14th homer, a three-run shot in the seventh inning.

Arkansas in Win Over Denver

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gary Kroll set down 15 Denver batters on strikes and got his sixth victory of the season—a 4-1 Arkansas triumph over the Bears.

The decision kept the Travelers in first place in the Eastern Division of the Pacific Coast League. Denver, second to Arkansas when this series started, is in fourth place in the division, 3½ games out of first.

Oklahoma City is in second, but the Bears begin a tough series tonight with Western Division leader Portland.

Kroll yielded 10 hits, which was two more than Arkansas batters got from Denver pitchers, but the Travelers managed four unearned runs in the third inning to settle it.

Denver's run came in the second when J.W. Porter led off with a home run.

Arkansas' runs came when Pat Corrales singled, Kroll grounded to Cecil Butler, who threw wild to second. Norm Gigon singled, scoring Corrales.

15 Contestants in Spelling Bee

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fifteen contestants—eight boys and seven girls—remained in contention today in the 37th national Spelling Bee after 13 rounds of competition.

It was the first time in the contest that the boys outnumbered the girls. Competition began Wednesday with 44 girls and 28 boys.

Forty-three youngsters were eliminated when they misspelled words during the first nine rounds. Twelve others faltered during the first four rounds today as the words got tougher.

The boys and girls are competing for the $5,700 in prizes including a first prize of $1,000, and weekend trip to the New York World's Fair and a nationwide television appearance.

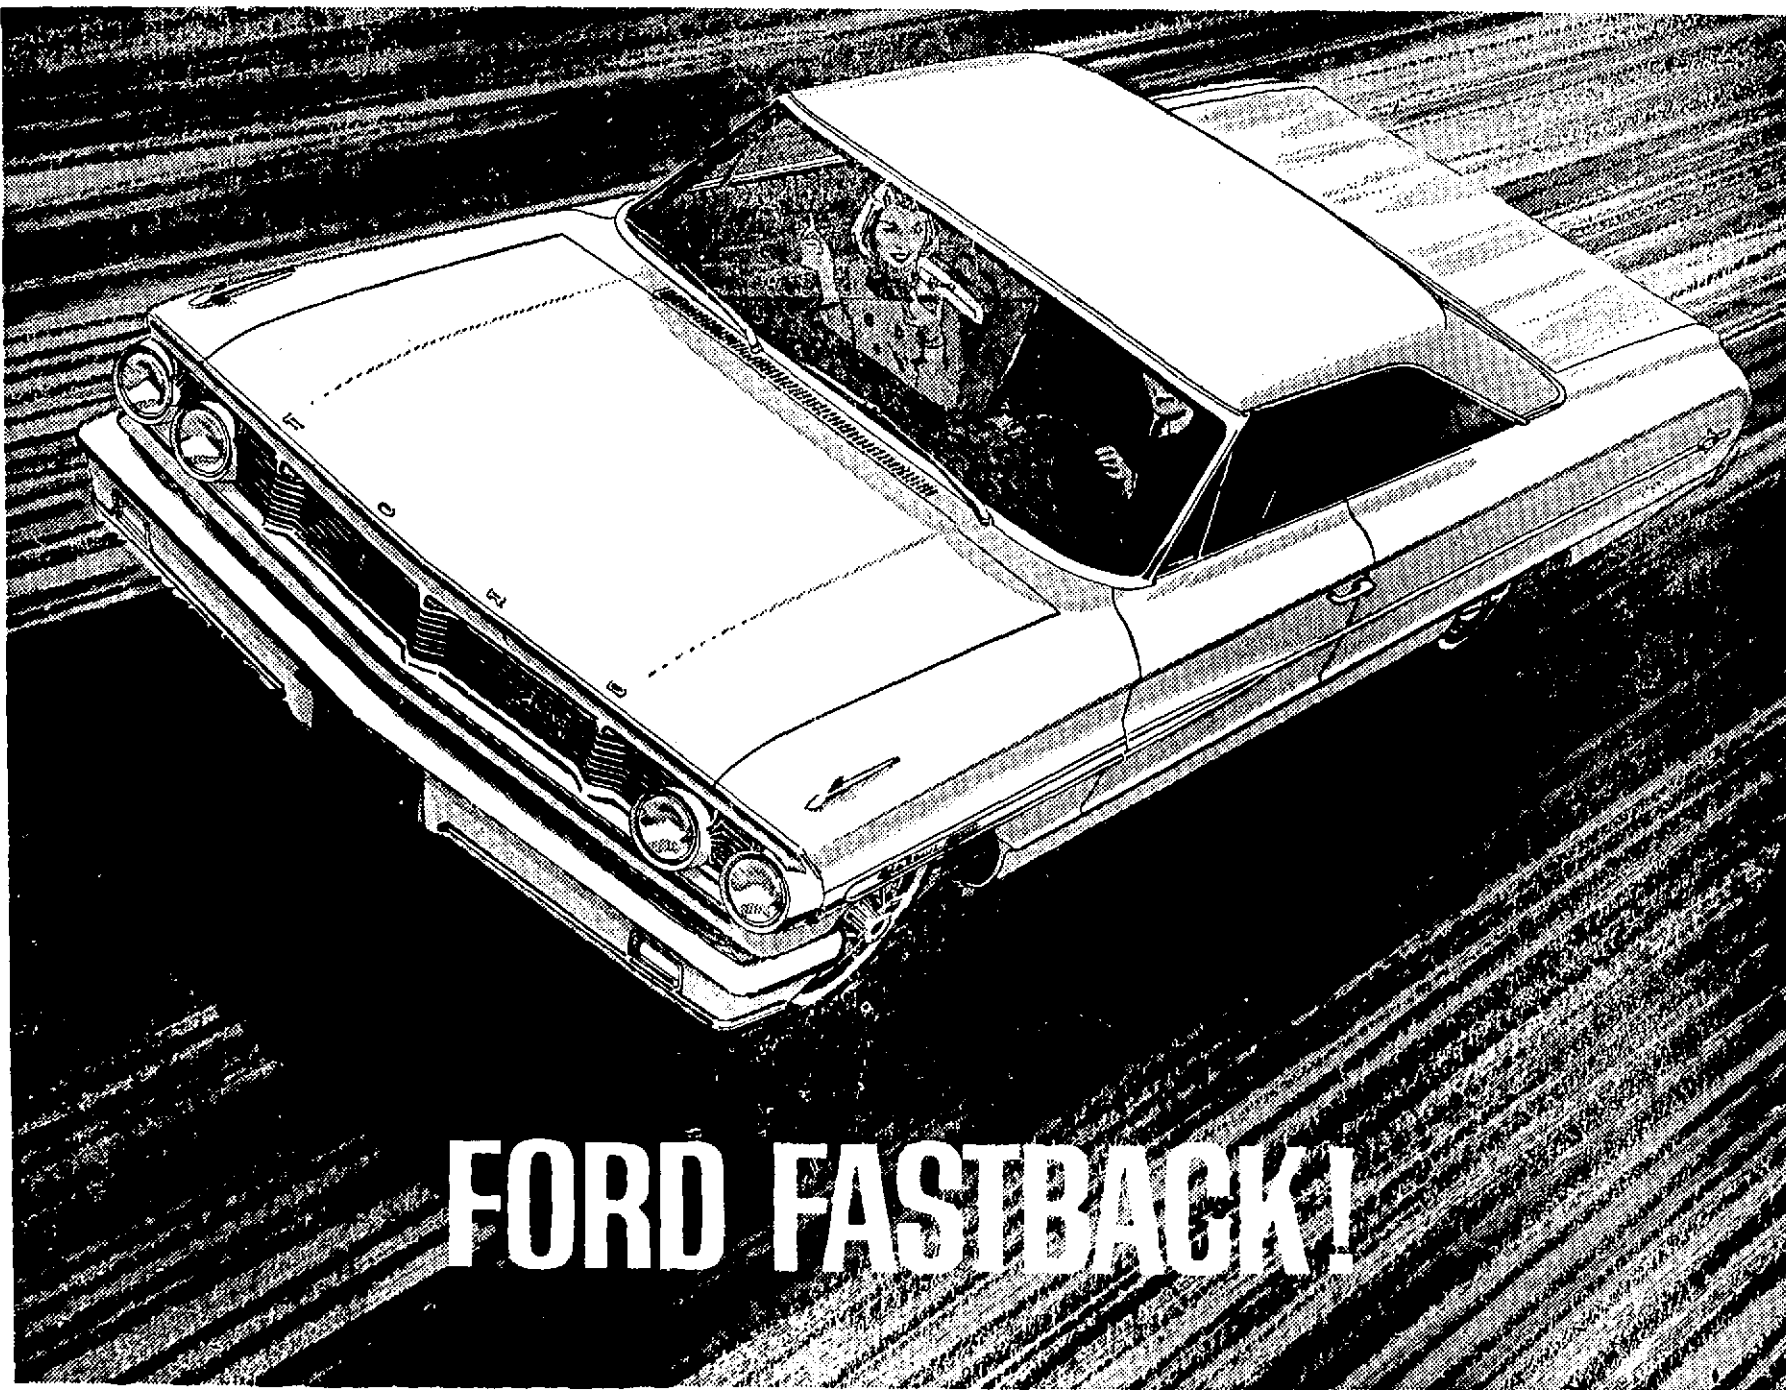

The 70 who started were sponsored by Scripps-Howard papers in 16 cities and 53 other daily and Sunday papers.

One official at the bee said in spelling, as in music, many youngsters have an ear for sound.

Gloves are Handy
Pittsburgh, (AP) — Dick Stuart, Boston first baseman not noted for his fielding, once said at a Pittsburgh banquet: "Behind every successful ball player is a fine woman."

The speaker who followed the former Pittsburgh Pirate couldn't resist cracking: "The woman behind you, Mr. Stuart, had better have a big first baseman's glove."
